Oppgaver refleksjon/diskusjon/samtale:

1. Why does Mr. Smith want to redecorate his living room?
2. Try to sum up the changes Mr. Smith and Line want to make in terms of the redecoration. Describe the job Line has to perform.
3. What cultural differences between England and Norway are highlighted in this conversation between Line and Mr. Smith?
4. Line has to consider that people from Britain in general are more polite than Norwegians. What do you think about the way Line handles this aspect in the conversation?
5. Line is an apprentice. Do you think she is professional in the way she deals with her client? Does she demonstrate that she knows her trade well, or not? Explain.

Further Work:

1. Some people would say there is a big cultural gap between Norway and Britain. What might be challenging if someone, like Mr. Smith, is going to settle in Norway permanently? If Mr. Smith asked you for some do's and don'ts, what advice would you give?
2. The British are famous for their particular sense of humour, and Mr. Smith is demonstrating this in his conversation with Line. Can you give some examples? What do you think is typical of British humour?
3. Find Out: Even if wallpapers probably originated in China around 200 B.C., wallpaper as we know it today is associated with England. Find out about the English influence on the development of wallpapers. You may find this site useful: http://www.coatings.org.uk/Sectors/About_wallpaper.aspx
Why do you think England played a major role in this development?
