

Pimp the Customer's Car

Vocational topic, cars and car exterior, interior, equipment and types

TPK Classes

INFO:

You are going to write a text in the given genre. This time you can choose to write either a short story or an essay.

If you choose to write an essay you need to write an introductory paragraph, a body consisting of minimum three paragraphs, and a summary paragraph (conclusion). You may look here for some advice:

<http://homeworktips.about.com/od/essaywriting/a/fiveparagraph.htm>

If you choose a genre like a short story the structure is less important. Then you need to describe people and atmosphere instead.

Write a text where you start your sentences with a capital letter and finish with a full stop. Write these as correctly as you can when it comes to spelling, variety in your vocabulary and with an English flow.

ASSIGNMENT: Write a text that you call "Pimp the customer's car!"

Your customer is a billionaire who wants you to pimp his/her ugly, rusty car – a car which he/she has a special affection for. Write a short story or an essay about pimping his/her car.

Describe:

1) The billionaire's car before and after upgrading:

- the car type and brand
- the purpose of the car
- exterior features: colour, design, size
- interior features and performance: engine type, fuel consumption
- exterior and interior car parts and accessories
- the adjustments done

2) What difficulties did you come across while pimping the car?

3) What disadvantages and advantages are there to work for billionaires?

- Your general experience in pimping a wealthy customer's car.

The meaning of the word PIMP: "To add things to something to make it look or sound better, especially by making it more individual."